Business Letter

Charlie and the Chocolate Factory

Roald Dahl

Assignment

You must find a minimum of five of your favorite companies to write to. You may choose game companies, food companies, clothing companies, or any other companies for which you can find addresses.

You must handwrite each letter neatly to your company. If printing is your neatest writing, please print. Each letter is to have a minimum of 3 short paragraphs. Each letter must follow the given basic business letter example.

When you complete each letter, you must also address and stamp an envelope. Everyone must use the common school address as the return address because we will share replies with the class. Before sealing it in the envelope, you must submit it to the teacher for grading. More than five letters is encouraged and extra credit is given accordingly.

Businesses often reply to students with colorful advertisements and coupons. The more letters you send, the greater your chance of getting replies.

Mr. D
1260 Anyschool Lane
Smallville, CA

January 30, 2009

Mr. Willie Wonka
President Emeritus
Wonka Chocolates
Wonkaville, England

Dear Mr. Wonka:

I appreciate your chocolate factory more than I can ever say. My family has been a fan of Wonka chocolates for years, even though we have to have them shipped all the way to California, where we live. This year we are taking a vacation to England. I am wondering if it is possible for us to schedule a tour this summer.

We expect to arrive in England around the middle of August. We will be there for nearly two weeks. Would it be possible for us to get a tour? We are particularly interested in riding your magnificent glass elevator and in seeing Charlie's latest inventions.

Please send us any available literature as to tour times or fascinating facts about your wonderful chocolate factory.

Sincerely,

Mr. D
